New York's Best Cinco de Mayo Deals

Everything is better on a rooftop now that the weather is warm and dry. So toast the holiday and the official opening of Cantina Rooftop (605 W. 48th St.) in Hell's Kitchen. Pedro Zamora, the man behind Latin dance club La Boom, known for its food as much as its scene, is behind the new rooftop space on Stage 48 by the Hudson River. The menu is modern Mexican (and today, it's just $7 for three tacos) and there's a tequila expert behind the bar, though he'll still serve you $5 beer and tequila shots and $6 margaritas. Those are happy hour prices the rest of the time, so mark that down on your calendars well past Cinco.
